[Product Description]

Placenta is deeply absorbed into tired skin to provide ample moisture and nourishment. Various vegetable extracts create healthy and firm skin. Ingredients like niacinamide and adenosine will help brightening and anti-aging of skin. It is also known as a placenta substance because it contains ingredients that do not fall into whitening and crease-related packs. It is an ingredient that helps the body heal by increasing the natural healing power of the body, not by adding artificial materials. In particular, the placenta not only has excellent whitening effects, but it also improves the moisturizing ability of the skin and improves wrinkles.
